Now the really fun part:

We want you to have an excellent title for your video, an excellent description (video sales letter) and a link to your affiliate site or any site you sell from.

So here's the premise:

You get a free account and upload a video you make with your webcam, or any other video you have uploaded already and you put a winning title and description on it with a link to the website that sells it.

You post a new video that is 30-180 seconds long. Want big boy results, do this same thing again every day for 30 days...

And each video put a different title, description in along with your link to the webpage that sells your product or service.

As soon as you upload it, go to twitter, facebook, your email, any source you have to reach people and include the video link with the message:

"I just posted a new video that shows you _____ , please click here to see it – you do not want to miss this!"
